EXTERNAL EXPERTISE

Scientific advisor of the project: "Ethical Challenges of Online Journalism: A Comparative Study among Italy, Belgium, and Spain", University of Seville, January 2012-December 2014. My role in this project consists in supervising the methodological design and set-up of both an ongoing online survey and a series of qualitative interviews with journalists and editors of online news media in the three countries. I am also the project's spokesperson for contacting French-speaking journalists in Belgium.

Member of the scientific committee for the project: "The Second Order Digital Divide", Belgian Science Policy, 2008-2010. As a scientific member of this committee, I supervised the theoretical and methodological design of this federal research project and contributed to the formulation of political recommendations for a better detection and assessment of the social consequences of unequal uses of ICT in Belgium.

Member of the steering committee for the project: "Problematic Internet Use and Video Games: Synthesis, Critical Assessment and Recommendations", Walloon Institute for Mental Health, 2008-2009. My role in this project was twofold: to give advice about the methodological design of the research and to contribute to the set-up of awareness-raising programmes and psychological modules aimed at parents and practitioners dealing with situations of problematic internet and video game use in French-speaking Belgium.
