Universidad de Navarra

Ecclesiastical Schools

Collaborating with the educational, formative, and evangelizing work of the Church, with the purpose of harmonizing faith and reason, in fruitful dialogue with all the sciences

«The Christian inspiration of the University is manifested in its desire for faithfulness to the Church and its Ecclesiastical Magisterium (...) love for the Church, unity with the Pope and Bishops, a sense of communion with other Catholics, ecumenical spirit with all Christians, and respect for believers of other religions and for those who do not profess any faith».

Statement of core values, University of Navarra, Nº 4

WHY WITH US?

University of Navarra

Being part of a university with international prestige allows contact and dialogue between every field of knowledge, providing students with an opening to the deep, global horizons necessary to understand the world in which we live.

Tradition and spirituality

The University is located in a region with deep historical and Christian roots, which will allow students to learn first-hand about the tradition of Spanish spirituality, both through its main authors (Saint Teresa of Jesus, Saint John of the Cross, Saint Ignatius of Loyola, and Saint Francis Xavier) and the places they lived and wrote (Ávila, Segovia, Salamanca, Loyola, and Javier).

More than 60 years of history and service to the Church

Inspired by Christian humanism, we conduct our work guided by our desire for service and in communion with the Church and its teachings.

Mentoring

Guidance is an indispensable element of the education delivered at the University of Navarra, which aspires to provide students with comprehensive training. They are offered advice and mentoring so that they can develop to their full potential and make the most of all aspects of university life.

Academic prestige

The commitment to excellence in teaching, research, and service makes us a center of excellence in terms of academic quality. Thus, according to the prestigious QS Ranking (2023), the University of Navarra was ranked #35 from among the best universities in the world in the subject 'Theology & Religious Studies'

A 360° experience

The training of our students is complemented with activities beyond the classroom that enrich their university lives and are inspiring experiences for their futures.

STUDENT PROFILE

→ Our student body has a marked international character, with students coming from all five continents. → The classes are in Spanish. Those who need to improve their level will receive complementary assistance courses. → We want to serve the Church by training seminarians, priests, and lay people who will return to their places of origin with complete academic training, having had an enriching life experience. → Aspiring university students must be intellectually capable, emotionally mature, and have the potential to adapt to unfamiliar places and new people.

The Bidasoa International Ecclesiastical College, erected by the Holy See in 1988, is an international seminary directed by the Prelature of the Holy Cross and Opus Dei, and attached to the School of Theology at the University of Navarra.

The seminarians of Bidasoa come from various parts of the world, having been sent by their respective bishops with the aim of receiving adequate training for their future priestly work in their dioceses.

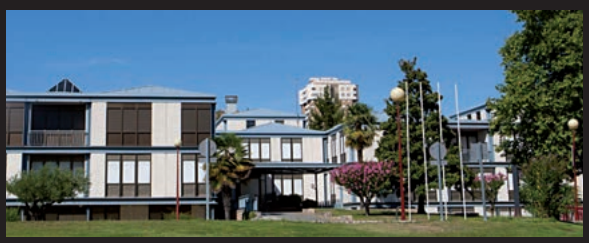

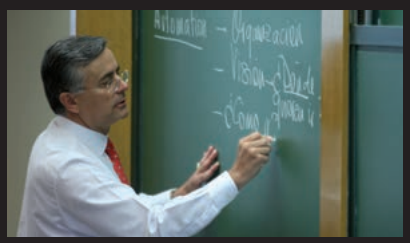

Priests who study at the University of Navarra stay in boarding school-like convictorios or residences, which ensures that they can dedicate themselves entirely to their studies and encourages fraternity. At the same time, it is also possible for them to participate in spiritual retreats and ongoing continued education activities for the clergy.

Our Admission and Assistance Service would guide the candidates in the process of registration and accommodation.
